

Something to think about

Thomas C. Fox | May. 15, 2009 NCR Today

The number of potential nuclear weapons states could more than double in the next few years unless major powers take radical steps toward disarmament, the head of the U.N.'s nuclear watchdog was quoted saying on Friday.

Mohamed ElBaradei said the threat of proliferation was particularly great in the Middle East and the international regime designed to limit the spread of nuclear weapons was at risk of falling apart, the Guardian newspaper reported.

[1]

Source URL (retrieved on 01/29/2015 - 12:45): <http://ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/something-think-about?splash=>

Links:

[1] <http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2009/05/14/AR2009051404247.html>