

2009 State of the Birds report

Rich Heffern | Oct. 8, 2009 NCR Today

Birds are a priceless part of America's heritage. They are beautiful, they are economically important ? and they reflect the health of our environment. The 2009 State of the Birds report reveals troubling declines of bird populations during the past 40 years ? a warning signal of the failing health of our ecosystems. At the same time, we see heartening evidence that strategic land management and conservation action can reverse declines of birds. This report calls attention to the collective efforts needed to protect nature's resources for the benefit of people and wildlife.

It's available at www.stateofthebirds.org [1]

Source URL (retrieved on 02/01/2015 - 01:06): <http://ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/2009-state-birds-report>

Links:

[1] <http://ncronline.org/www.stateofthebirds.org>