

Fast from oil June 20

Dennis Coday | Jun. 10, 2010 NCR Today

A group at the 2010 Duke Divinity Center for Reconciliation Summer Institute are calling for a fast from oil June 20, the two-month anniversary of the oil disaster in the Gulf of Mexico. See the Facebook page The BP Oil Spill: A Christian Call for Lament and Reconciliation [1] for details.

They also have an online pledge to sign [2] that asks people to commit to transforming "our lives as individuals and churches toward freedom from fossil fuels and reconciliation with all God's creation."

The pledge suggests the following actions:

- Fasting from all food on Fridays except that which has been locally grown with methods that do not rely on petroleum-based fertilizers and pesticides.
- Making every effort to take each Friday as a day when we do not drive but rather walk, bike, ride public transit, or carpool to school or work.
- Praying for the transformation of our lives as individuals and churches toward freedom from fossil fuels and reconciliation with all God's creation.
- Continuing these practices until the oil spill has been cleaned up and the work of restoration of God's creation in the Gulf has begun.

Source URL (retrieved on 01/26/2015 - 14:52): <http://ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/fast-oil-june-20>

Links:

[1] <http://www.facebook.com/OilSpillLament>

[2] <http://www.ipetitions.com/petition/lamentbpoilspill/>