

Election Central

Michael Sean Winters | Oct. 14, 2010

Over the past several weeks, NCR's Distinctly Catholic blog [1] has featured analyses of various midterm races around the country that, in one way or another, are of interest to Catholic voters.

Each post looked at polling data, key issues, fundraising, and other important election dynamics.

Here, at Election Central [2], you will find links to each of those original posts. Look for each to be updated with new information as we get closer to election day. The analyses are organized by type of race: for Governor, House and Senate.

We've also provided links to other articles that look at the upcoming elections, from both the print edition of NCR and NCRonline [3].

Stay tuned for updates. Get informed on the issues. This midterm election will reshape the political landscape and NCR's at Election Central [2] is the place to find a distinctly Catholic view of that landscape.
