

Religious environmental saints

Rich Heffern | Jan. 24, 2011 Eco Catholic

Mallory McDuff, author of Natural Saints: How People of Faith are Working to Save the Earth, on a Huffington Post blog [1], lists her Top Ten Religious Environmental Saints. Included is Fr. John Rausch for his leadership of countless tours of mountaintop removal sites in Appalachia for seminarians, community members, and interfaith groups. Others are Rev. Sally Bingham, founder of the Interfaith Power and Light Campaign, Nobel Prize winner Wangari Maathi and Wendell Berry.

Source URL (retrieved on 01/31/2015 - 05:24): <http://ncronline.org/blogs/eco-catholic/religious-environmental-saints>

Links:

[1] http://www.huffingtonpost.com/mallory-mcduff-phd/top-10-religious-environm_b_698228.html?ref=email_share