

With Jon Sobrino at the SOA protest

Dennis Coday | Nov. 25, 2008

In his Online column this week, Fr. John Dear reflects on the SOA. He writes:

"Thousands of us gathered this weekend, Nov. 21-23, for the annual funeral procession at Fort Benning in Columbus, Ga., there to call for the closing of the notorious "School of Assassins," where the United States trains the Latin American death squads that, over the past few decades, have killed thousands. We gather there each year around Nov. 16 -- the anniversary of the massacre of the Jesuits in El Salvador. This year, the sole Jesuit at the University of Central America to have survived the attack, liberation theologian Jon Sobrino, was our guest of honor."

Read the full column here: With Jon Sobrino at the SOA protest

[1]

Source URL (retrieved on 01/25/2015 - 17:17): <http://ncronline.org/blogs/jon-sobrino-soa-protest>

Links:

[1] <http://ncrcafe.org/node/2299>