

Millennial's Greatest Hits

Michael Sean Winters | Jan. 2, 2013 | Distinctly Catholic

One of the best new blogs to emerge this year was Millennial [1], sponsored by Catholics in Alliance for the Common Good, but written by younger, millennial Catholics. Sarah Christian has a post up with links to some of their most important articles in their four months of existence. They are covering a lot of turf over there, and doing so with a fresh voice the Church, and the nation, desperately need.
