

Faith & Secularism: It's Not Just for RCs Anymore

Michael Sean Winters | Jan. 30, 2013 | Distinctly Catholic

This article in yesterday's New York Times [1] about the political forces surrounding the issue of secularization in Israeli politics was fascinating. Turns out it is not only Catholics in the U.S. that are navigating the issue of how religion and political culture intersect and, indeed, in Israel all such issues have an urgency because of that country's need for political unity in the face of its external threats. See any parallels to the U.S.?

Source URL (retrieved on 01/31/2015 - 01:07): <http://ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/faith-secularism-its-not-just-rcs-anymore>

Links:

[1] http://www.nytimes.com/2013/01/29/world/middleeast/israeli-secularists-find-their-voice-in-yair-lapid.html?pagewanted%3Dall&_r=0