

Land Grabs in Africa: "Worse Than Colonization"

Michael Sean Winters | Apr. 29, 2013 Distinctly Catholic

Writing at the website of the Africa Faith & Justice Network [1], Jacques Bahati details how land grabs in Africa, often involving U.S. companies, are picking up where the colonial powers left off, exploiting the continent's resources at the expense of its inhabitants and, coincidentally, shredding even the most rudimentary Western notions of justice.

Source URL (retrieved on 01/31/2015 - 03:20): <http://ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/land-grabs-africa-worse-colonization>

Links:

[1] <http://www.afjn.org/focus-campaigns/other/other-continental-issues/161-agriculture/1152-the-epidemic-of-land-grabbing-is-worse-than-colonization-us-companies-are-part-of-the-rip-off.html>