

Run, Governor, Run

Michael Sean Winters | Aug. 5, 2013 | Distinctly Catholic

Politico has a story [1] about Gov. Martin O'Malley considering a presidential bid in 2016. I think he should run, and have told him so. Hillary may or may not get into the race but even formidable candidates never know when there is a banana peel in their path. I live most of the year in Maryland and O'Malley is not only well-liked, but admired for his effectiveness.
