

Are the Dems sunk this year?

Michael Sean Winters | Mar. 12, 2014 Distinctly Catholic

Alex Sink was widely expected to win the special election in Florida's 13th District yesterday. Republican operatives even admitted that her opponent, David Jolly, was running a Keystone Cops-quality campaign. Still, she lost and Jolly won. [1] The Democrats need to seriously figure out how they can avoid this coming November's midterms from turning into a defeat of epic proportions. Hint: Defend the ACA but run as far from Obama as you can.

Source URL (retrieved on 01/30/2015 - 19:47): <http://ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/are-dems-sunk-year>

Links:

[1] <http://www.politico.com/story/2014/03/david-jolly-alex-sink-florida-special-election-2014-democrats-104560.html?hp=f1>