

by Teresa Malcolm

View Author Profile

Join the Conversation

Send your thoughts to Letters to the Editor. Learn more

March 14, 2019

Share on BlueskyShare on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

Our team of copy editors reads and posts most of what you see on the websites for National Catholic Reporter and Global Sisters Report (the NCR project focusing on women religious). The Copy Desk Daily highlights recommended news and opinion articles that have crossed our desks on their way to you.

Two features today tell the stories of Catholics reaching out and serving on the margins. Walk along narrow lanes with St. Paul of Chartres Sr. Martha Park Byongsuk as the Korean nun changes the face of Bus-Park slum in Nepal. And in the U.S., visit a new kind of soup kitchen, one that welcomes diners to a beautiful space, delicious meals and restaurant-style service: 'Urban chic' One City Café serves chef-created meals to needy Kansas Citians.

Pope Francis' accomplishments outweigh his failures so far, Jesuit Fr. Tom Reese finds as he analyzes the good, the bad and the merciful: Pope Francis after six years.

Missionary Sister of Our Lady of the Angels among victims of Ethiopian crash, and Rose Achiego reports for GSR from Africa on what she's learned about Sr. Florence Wangari's life.

Young Voices columnist Brian Harper has a surprising model for discernment and mercy in tumultuous times: The unappreciated spiritual legacy of Gerald Ford.

Advertisement

*Want to keep updated with the latest news from the National Catholic Reporter?
Sign up here for news updates by email — including one that will send you Copy Desk Daily every Monday through Friday.*